charities

macleod & maccallum

charities

Macleod & MacCallum are renowned for providing specialist charity law advice. From national institutions to small foundations, we give advice that is tailored to our clients' needs.

Charity law in Scotland has seen significant changes in recent years, and with new legislation comes new challenges. Macleod & MacCallum has extensive experience in the not-for-profit sector and provides specialist advice on a range of areas including:-

- the creation, conversion, merger and wind-up of charities
- variation of charitable purposes
- trustees' powers and duties
- employment matters
- relationships with regulatory bodies such as HM Revenue & Customs, the Office of the Scottish Charity Regulator, Companies House and other arms of Government
- creation of tradng subsidiaries

Macleod & MacCallum's charity solicitors also have proven expertise in property law and funding reated transactions. They can provide advice on property purchase and leases with specific focus on the requiremenst of funders and grant providers.

It is important that charities of all types, from small independent fundraising bodies to major national organisations, are fully compliant with current charity law in Scotland. Macleod & MaCallum can provide authoritative legal guidance and support to charities and other not-for-profit bodies, allowing them to focus on their primary goals.

For further information please contact us at:

charity@macandmac.co.uk 28 Queensgate, Inverness IV1 1DJ
Tel: 01463 239393
www.macandmac.co.uk

macleod & maccallum

Macleod & MacCallum are regulated for legal services by the Law Society of Scotland and are authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority